Why paediatrics?

Children deserve thorough and detailed care in an environment and with people that are both loving and playful.

Each child is different and healthcare delivery in children must be individualized accordingly in order to promote full health all year round.

Pediatrics is a medical specialty that manages medical conditions affecting newborns, babies, children and young people.

The doctors who work in this area are called Pediatricians and look at specific health issues, diseases and disorders related to all stages of growth and development.

Therefore, the full support ecosystem of people that love and are passionate about their total wellbeing is the mission of the Limi Children's Hospital.

Specialized Intensive transport facilities are also readily available to ensure that transfer of delicate newborns from partnering hospitals is done as safely as possible and with the utmost care required for desirable clinical outcomes.
